The Accounts Payable Automation Solution for the Construction Industry

Today's construction industry is increasingly competitive, often facing shortages in everything from skilled labor to building materials and supplies. Coupled with an accounting process full of unique requirements and procedures means having control over your cash flow is critical. Complete end-to-end Accounts Payable (AP) automation is the solution for organizations in the construction industry.

Yooz Solves Your Top Construction Accounts Payable Pain Points

AP Pain Points	Pain-Free AP Processing with Yooz
Multiple work locations	Cloud-based and responsive interface means you can review and approve from any mobile device anywhere, any time
Lack of visibility and traceability	Always have real-time insight across the Purchase-to-Pay (P2P) process and navigate complex payment cycles across purchase orders, retention, and lien waivers, to full payment
Large amount of contract work	Onboard, manage, and pay subcontractors using a single email address
High volume of paper and missing invoices	Digitize documents from start to finish with cloud-based storage and searchability
Missed or late payments	Never miss a payment with customized workflows and notifications allowing for early pay discounts

Cody Manning
NORAM Chief Sales Officer
at Yooz

"The older business model for the construction industry has at its core on AP system that is cumbersome, outdated, and costly. It does not include a much-needed cyber safety net, money-saving efficiencies, or a way to increase revenue streams.

The innovation of an intelligent, user-friendly cloud-based, AP Automation system, such as the Yooz platform, is the best tool in the construction-business owner's belt."

Construct an Even Stronger Foundation

The construction industry consistently falls behind in technological advancements. Out of ten different industries, the construction industry was ranked the least technologically competent.*
